

Script writing for Screenplays and Stageplays.

Ex. Morning Antics

SETTING Apartment/Apartment Kitchen (A villainous man stands behind kitchen counter, two mugs of coffee are set in front of him. A tired man enters the apartment living room from the bedroom.)

ANDREW Good morning, Derek.

DEREK ...What are you doing?

ANDREW I'm glad you asked! I've prepared coffee. (Beat.)

ANDREW Wouldn't you like to know what I've done//to the coffee

DEREK //What did you do to the coffee?

ANDREW Nothing, really. I prepared it as usual; dark roast, creamer, sugar... and poison! But I didn't add it to both, no, //I added it to one!

DEREK //You added it to one.

ANDREW We're going to play a game, Derek: We'll each choose a cup and drink it. Whoever drinks the poison, loses! (Derek turns away.)

ANDREW Ah, but you can't escape! I've sealed the door shut! (Derek turns to the front door; The handle is covered with scotch tape. After a beat, he picks up the mug.)

---

Written by FindWritersOnline.com writer: APJRunner